Wins $200 For Best Fire Hydrant

The Lakeside Rebekah Lodge has an additional $200 in its treasury, thanks to Mrs. Wayne (Sherene) Jones, who won the Antioch Chamber of Commerce bicentennial fire hydrant contest.

The winning hydrant is at the corner of Lake and Orchard, just outside Mike Warren's real estate office.

Sherene said she decorated the hydrant on behalf of her.

in the deficit-ridden confines of the federal government the worst act that can be performed by any official is to have his agency run a financial surplus.

This unpardonable sin has become so unusual in the extravagant atmosphere of Washington that the guilty are quickly exposed and treated to bureaucratic censorship and congressional displeasure. A case in point is Peter Voight, director of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant program in the U.S. Office of Education.

LAST YEAR Congress appropriated $535 million for direct aid to colleges, and Voight's agency was able to use only $400 million of the amount.

The liberals in Congress who devised the program could scarcely believe that not enough applications were received to exhaust the appropriations. But to be absolutely safe they fixed things so that more students would be eligible for the program and increased this year's funds to $800 million. And what of Peter Voight? He

THE OPERATIVE work in Voight's quotation is "problem." Apparently we have come so far along the road of deficit financing that running a surplus in an agency's operations account is regarded by public officials as a problem. It doesn't seem to occur to them that with a federal deficit of $70 billion in prospect, a few surpluses would be welcome.

Runs For Coroner

Herbert (Kelly)Horton Sr. of Rt. 5, Antioch, has announced his candidacy in the Mar. 16 Republican primary for the office of Lake County Coroner.

Mr. Horton has owned and operated a dairy business for 30 years.

He is an active, life-time Republican, founder of the Antioch Township Republican Club and past president for seven terms.

He also has been chairman and a member of the Lake County Safety Commission for years, an Antioch township constable for eight years and a deputy coroner for three years.

"I think my tenure and experience with the Lake County Safety Commission and elected police officer has given me a good insight into how the office of coroner should be operated. If elected, I promise to run an honest, efficient and 'around the clock' coroner's office, Horton said.

He and his wife, Suzanne, and family live at 138 Bluff Dr. in Antioch.

following old Indian paths leading toward Milwaukee from the shores of Lake Michigan, because they had turned northwest on a trail leading toward Mukwonago, Wis. When they arrived in the area around Loon Lake they liked what they saw and decided to explore the surrounding areas, finally settling on Sequoit Creek.

Thomas Warner also chose a homesite near Loon Lake in 1836 and built a temporary shelter until he could build a log cabin the next year.

None of these settlers stayed through the winter of 1836. When they returned the following summer they were joined by more settlers. The town was officially named Antioch in 1839 by a vote which included members of the Christian Church called Campbellites.

In 1839 a sawmill was built on Sequoit Creek by another early pioneer, Hiram Buttrick. Also in this year the settlers around Millburn, in the souteast part of Antioch Township, had a meeting which resulted in the formation of a Congregational Church which is still in operation today.

Also in 1839 the government surveyed the area and termed the land around Pistakee,

"Grassy" and Marie Lakes as swamplands. This caused a legal problem because thousands of these acres were claimed by settlers who had improved the area and built homes and resorts on the land.

The rights of these people to settle this land and own it was not finally determined until 1895 when the Secretary of the Interior ruled these squatters did rightfully own the land. Many old family names of the area were affected by this decision - Hatch, Smith, Savage, Felter, Otis, Carey, Morley, Effinger, Westlake and others.

IN EARLY 1840, Daniel Head became a pioneer merchant in the area. The first post office was established in 1846 and a local physician, L. D. Gage, became the first postmaster. By the late 1840s Antioch included three stores, three saloons, two blacksmith shops, a harness and wagon shop, a church and a travelers' inn.

State Line Road was built in 1845, helping some of the east-west traffic to the Chain of Lakes region. With increased access and settlers, Antioch expanded and held its first town election in April of 1850. Although there were still some Indians in the area, they were always extremely friendly.

Most of the early settlers followed the Whig philosophy and later the ideas of the Republican Party. In the national election of 1856, the voters cast 250 votes for Fremont and 9 for Buchanan. In 1860, 258 votes for Lincoln were recorded and 15 for Douglas.

Strong in their personal feelings toward President Lincoln and his political philosophy, hundreds of young men answered the call to arms during the Civil War. Thirty-six gave their lives during this conflict. Antioch Township, being mainly an agricultural area, was farmed by women, children and the elderly during this period of history.

A VERY important event in 1885 was the building of the Wisconsin Central Railroad through the county and the town of Antioch in a north-south direction. This railroad was bought some time later and renamed the "Soo Line." It remained a link to Chicago for passenger service and movement of the agricultural products of the county. It also brought great numbers of city people out to the lake area during the summer to escape the noise, heat and dirt of the city.

During these years Antioch became known as the "Hub of the Lake Region" and made great strides toward becoming a resort community. Some of the finest hostelries to be found anywhere were built on the shores of the lakes in the Antioch region. Some of the better known resorts were Queen of the West and Petite Lake Hotel, near Petite Lake.

Rothers Resort, Selters Place, Bauers and Pregenzers were built near Grassy Lake.

Herman's Resort, Johnson's House, The Cheshire, Kepner's Resort and Jurchik's Place were built on the shores of Bluff Lake.

Smith's Hotel, Savage's Pavillion, Gifford House and Sylvan House entertained guests on the shores of Channel Lake.

Tody's Inn and Dressels, later known as Wurz'n Sepp's, catered to patrons near the shores of Lake Marie.

A passenger ship, "The Mamie," made excursion trips around the Chain of Lakes and took sightseers to visit the famous and rare "Lotus Beds" in Grassy Lake. During these years hundreds of people from Chicago and nearby towns bought and built summer homes around and near many of the local lakes.

ON FEBRUARY 29, 1892, the town of Antioch was incorporated under the laws of Illinois after having voted down the idea twice previously. The town had originally been incorporated in 1857, but that incorporation was repealed in 1865.

The first school was started in 1843 and one student was taught by Welcome Jilson, the first teacher. The year 1892 saw the replacement of Antioch's little frame one-room schoolhouse

Parents Asked To Meeting At ACHS Today

Parents of Antioch High School students have been invited to a 3:15 p.m. meeting today (Wednesday) in the school cafeteria.

The ACHS Education Association extended the invitation and said the guest speaker will be Mrs. Nora Quenfeld, who will discuss ways of achieving "Better Education Standards."

EVERY SEVEN years Antioch Community High School must be evaluated by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, and Illinois Office of Education, to maintain its approved rating.

Antioch High School was evaluated in 1968 and is consequently slated for evaluation again on Dec. 9, 10 and 11.

Twenty-eight teachers and administrators from various schools throughout the state will be here to take part in the evaluation process. The results, both positive and negative, will be publicized for the general public.

SUPT. WARREN Polley, in a letter to parents, said: "Parents and students are to be congratulated for the fine attendance record of the student body. For the first two months of the year, we were averaging between 94 and 95 percent attendance. This is a tribute to the importance given education by the community. I am confident that this emphasis on regular attendance will continue. The major positive result of this fine attendance record of our students will reflect in increased opportunity for learning."

That famous beer barrel was swiped once before and somehow wound up in Rhinelander, Wis., at the home of Jerry Staffon, a former Antioch fireman. Then, suddenly, it appeared in Channel Lake at Paty's Lounge, from where it was returned to the Pub. A well-traveled barrel.

The newlyweds are making their home in Lake Villa.

Q. How much more would it cost me to heat my home if the government adopted the proposal of Congressmen who say we should decontrol natural gas?

A. A lot less, the experts say, than most people would imagine. The price of natural gas at the point of production, known as the wellhead, makes up only about 20 percent of the cost of gas to residential users.

The Federal Energy Administration estimates that the average homeowner's gas bill, which is about $180 a year, would increase by only $10.21 in 1976, $13.30 in 1977, and $19.15 in 1978, if new gas were decontrolled.

The display of pictures gives the viewer dramatic evidence of Alaska's Brooks Range and the North Arctic tundra. Mountain ranges are seen in several of the pictures. Visitors will see the beauty of wildflowers, streams and wildlife. These pictures were taken in a vast land until now untouched by man, "said Michael Teeley, director of the Environmental Education office."

"A question of this area's preservation exists today. What will happen or has happened because of the building of the Alaskan Pipeline? Will all of this natural beauty exist for all eternity or will man again cause its destruction?" Teeley asked.

Established by John Muir in 1892, the Sierra Club, an environmental organization, supplies the pictures as a public service. The club also works to preserve lands endangered by industrial and residential growth. Pamphlets available at the bank explain more about the club's activities.

THE ANTIOCH Library now has a display on an environmental issue until Nov. 21. This Sierra Club exhibit on "Stripmining" includes pictures of what can happen to areas set aside for these operations, Teeley said.

"Viewers will see trees stripped from the land and streams being polluted. Because of population growth, technology is challenged to do a better job in managing the part of the planet it has already claimed," he said.

Accompanying the display are pamphlets from the Sierra Club. The pamphlets explain the work of the club. Persons interested in joining can write to the address in the pamphlet.

Betty Lu Williams, librarian, and the Environmental Education office are sponsoring the exhibit.

Old Farmer's Riddle: What is full of holes yet can hold water? (Answer below)

Ask the Old Farmer: A friend of mine steadfastly maintains that the only way to eat oysters on the half-shell is with vinegar — nothing else. I argue that it is all a matter of individual taste. What do you say? H.F., Wakefield, R.I.

We agree with you, and so would Bobby Burns, who said oysters should be eaten with gin.

Home Hints: Save those plastic tubs that soft margarine comes in. On trips, use them to store damp paper towels in the glove compartment for cleaning sticky fingers ... Riddle answer: A sponge.

Packing - Since you're allowed just 44 pounds of baggage on transatlantic flights (except first class travel), it's best to choose a sturdy, light weight suitcase.

Take as little clothing as possible and, when you're selecting what to take, choose washable, wrinkle-resistant items whenever you can. That way you'll be spared the expense and delay of dry cleaning services on your vacation.

When you pack, try to leave some space (and a few pounds of weight allowance) for the things you'll buy. And don't forget toilet articles - small sizes and collapsible items save space and solids are safer to transport than liquids.

Be sure to take any medications that you might need because most drugs are marketed under different names in Europe and you will be unable to fill American prescriptions.

Europe than in the U.S.A., so don't bring appliances unless you have a transformer with round-pronged plugs.

Do not put your passport in your suitcase. Keep it with you at all times; you will need it for renting your auto, checking into your hotel and changing money or traveler's checks.

One last thought for the first time traveler, don't worry if you forget something. You'll be able to buy virtually anything you might need in Europe and often your favorite brand.

certainly hate to appear. prudish.

But we could respect Gibron more if he would clean up his act. There were some teenagers in the audience and you don't have to tell dirty jokes or use foul language to be entertaining.

"Sunday's Bears-Packers game was a (bleep) football game as far as I was concerned," Gibron said. "It looked like 22 fags out there playing."

. "I think Gary Huff of the Bears has more ability than any quarterback I've ever seen, but he doesn't have the (bleep)," Gibron informed us.

"I think most newspaper writers are (bleep)," he said, helping to make the feeling mutual.

I'M GLAD I never had to play football for Abe Gibron. His record hints that most of the Chicago Bears in recent years felt the same way.

I'm sure most members of the audience enjoyed Gibron's talk. It was locker room or poker table stuff and he is an entertaining type of guy.

He made some interesting observations:

"The Bears and Packers don't have the right people playing for them and it's going to take a long time before they are winners."

"I made a mistake going with the World Football League, the Mickey Mouse league, and Thursday I'm taking them to court for $2 million."

"Otto Graham would have been the greatest quarterback of all if Coach Paul Brown had let him go. I think Archie Manning is the greatest now, but he can't win. Bobby Douglas is a great athlete but he needs a lot of humility."

"Dan Devine is doing a better job at Notre Dame than he did with the Packers. He'll wind up at 8-2 and go to a Bowl game."

"Ninety percent of the college coaches lie like (bleep) when they recruit high school kids."

"When you got a pro football team with 44 guys, and 18 or 20 of them are colored, you got problems ... more problems than you have in Antioch and Kenosha combined."

"I'm a Mayor Daley man and I don't care who knows it."

That tells us a lot, Abe.

Economic Classes Now Required By Some States

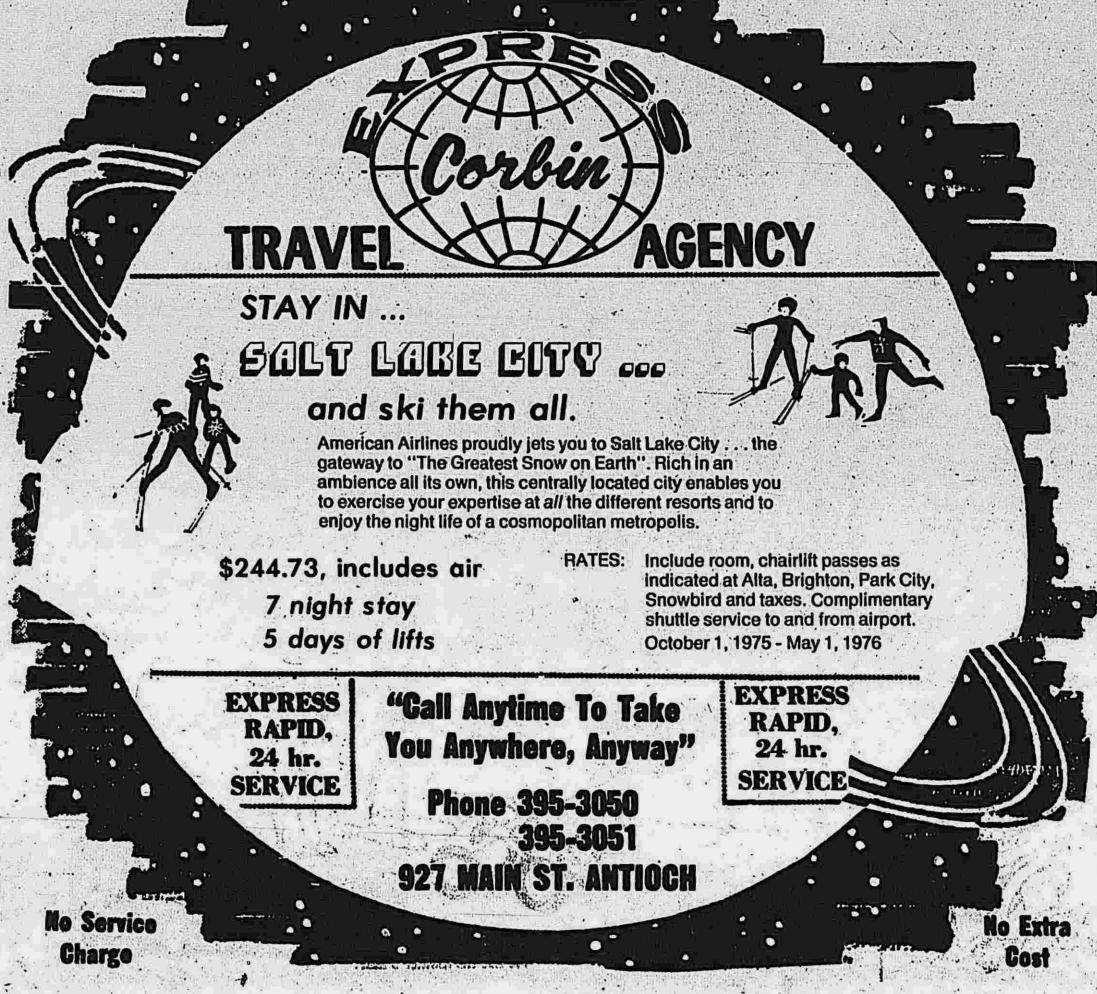

Twelve out of the 50 states have been identified as having either passed legislation or otherwise require through regulations a form of "economic; education."

Although alluded to by terms such as "free enterprise," "consumer education," "thrift," "personal finance," and "comparative economics," all relate to some facet of economic education.

The Code of Alabama requires instruction on comparative economic systems. Arizona has a law that requires a student to complete a course entitled "Free Enterprise" before graduating from high school. Florida laws specify that consumer education will be taught to students, as do Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

The Nevada public school system requires that lessons on thrift be taught, while North Carolina and Texas stipulate that the free enterprise system will be taught in all high schools.

Astro-Analysis

By Sonia

ARIES [March 21 - April 19] — Tackling unusual feats provides an element of motivation. You are good at finding the right solution to any predicament which may have been an obstacle previously.

TAURUS [April 20 - May 20] — Don't get too carried away with an impossible mission; keep things on a reasonable level. Set goals that you know you are capable of accomplishing successfully.

GEMINI [May 21 - June 21] — You see things from a most positive viewpoint now. Being able to maintain the right mental attitude puts you in a favorable position with associates.

CANCER [June 22 - July 21] — Being restless about your present status can make those close to you tense, too. Try to overcome a tendency toward impatience. By waiting it out you are able to assume a more rewarding role. Audiovisuci

LEO [July 22 - August 21] - Planetary positions are favorable for dealing with relatives and close neighbors. An excellent week to patch up differences, clear up misunderstandings.

VIRGO [August 22 - September 22] — Work on building a more secure niche. Your concern over present situation causes you to take a more constructive approach about making those necessary adjustments.

LIBRA [September 23 - October 22] — Although you aren't overly concerned with social approval it's best to keep things moving on an even keel. Try not to pull surprises on close associates.

SCORPIO [October 23 - November 21] — Psychic abilities seem heightened and you are able to rely more on perceptivity but it's just as important to be as realistic as possible.

SAGITTARIUS [November 22 - December 20] — You can reap the benefits of previously well thought out plans that you've worked hard on. As a good trend continues do some serious thinking about future needs.

CAPRICORN [December 21 - January 20] — Leadership qualities don't go unnoticed; you now get the chance you need to prove your abilities. Do your best without appearing too know-it-all.

AQUARIUS [January 21 - February 19] — You are more at ease with people on your intellectual level. Seek out company you are most comfortable with and avoid people who are non-communicative.

PISCES [February 20 - March 20] — Others may come to you to confide in; listen to what they have to say but avoid giving advice. Being too close-mouthed about business affairs can have its drawbacks.

Bicentennial Fair a Delightful Event

PERSONS walking into the Lower Grade School gymnasium last Saturday were delightfully surprised. The Antioch Woman's and Garden clubs were holding their Bicentennial Fair and had turned the gym into a splendid and colorful scene of historical significance.

It was the clubs' contribution to community's bicentennial celebration and represented the highlight of the month of November for the Antioch Bicentennial Commission. The pictures on this page tell the story better than words could possibly do it.

A DISPLAY provided by Joan Larson of the Courtyard was shown off by Ruth Jedele.

Woman's Club Meets Again Next Monday

By FLORENCE PEDERSEN

The Antioch Woman's Club held its Nov. 3 meeting at the First National Bank of Antioch's community room. The main topic was last Saturday's Bicentennial Fair. Mrs. Clarence Olson took over as co-chairman of the well-organized Fair for Mrs. Einar Petersen, who had to make an unexpected trip to California.

Hostess Mrs. Carl Scheske and her committee: Mesdames Terrence Boston, James Carl-Robert Duha, Richard Dyer, Homer Fowles, Russell Holtz, Ralph Jacobsen, Ted Larson, Ray Lorenz Jr., Clarence Spiering and Edmund Vos served crackers and cheese with the "wine tasting," and coffee, tea and cookies after the program.

Mr. Mike Petrich, of San Jose, Calif. showed slides of the vineyards and the winery and showed the art of winemaking from grape picking to the bottle labelling. Kevin Kelly, representing Foremost Liquors, served three different wines to all present and Mr. Petrich answered questions and pointed out the difference in the wines.

THE NEXT meeting of the Antioch Woman's Club will be Monday, Nov. 17, and will feature Irene Kreer with "The Christmas Story in Art."

A staff assistant with the Art Institute of Chicago, Irene has for 11 years guided and enlightened groups of all ages and backgrounds through the treasures of the great cultural

FOR FUN AND SAFET

Whenever you hunt, make sure you don't become a target. Wear red or international orange, and mark your game the same way when you transport it.

Shooting fish in a barrel may be considered easy, but it is also illegal to shoot fish with firearms. Shooting fish in the water is also dangerous, since the surface of the water can make the bullet ricochet.

A good hunter is also a good conservationist. Make sure you're sure of water fowl marking before you take to the blind, and be sure the "buck" you bag is not a doe.

Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun and never pull a gun' toward you by the muzzle. Make sure you have the right ammunition for your firearms and that the gun you think is empty really is.

Follow these hunting sur gestions this season, a you'll be much more likely to be able to hunt next season.

new era in home climate control begins

About forty-five years ago, scientists began developing a revolutionary heating device that uses the heat of the earth's atmosphere. They called it a heat pump. Today, it is the only commercially available heating system that provides an answer to shrinking supplies of fuel oil and gas.

How the heat pump works.

Basically, the heat pump moves heat from one place to another. Using electricity to run the device, it extracts heat from a limitless source—the heat in outdoor air. During winter, enough heat remains in the air—even on the coldest and cloudiest days—to be extracted by the pump and transferred indoors as clean, flameless heat. And during warm weather, the process automatically reverses, removing excess indoor heat and humidity-like an air conditioner.

Better efficiency.

In short, the heat pump does the job of both a furnace and an air conditioner. But there's an important difference. The heat pump produces more than 11/2 units of heat energy for every unit it consumes. That's better efficiency than any other current heating system.

It's ready.

It's ideal for new homes because it won't be obsolete in ten years. It's not dependent on the fossil fuels that may not be available in the future. To the homeowner, that means significant long-term savings on heating costs.

The heat pump is a big step in the conservation of scarce fuels. And here in northern Illinois, the electricity you would use to capture the heat comes mainly from coal and nuclear energy, rather than scarce oil and gas.

To get the full advantages of the heat pump, it's important to get a quality product, properly installed and reliably serviced. For the name of qualified installers in your area, call G. W. Berkheimer (Westinghouse Distrs.), (312) 374-4411, or General Electric Co., (312) 496-6356. If you want additional heat pump information, call your local Commonwealth Edison office and talk to our marketing engineer.

State Gives To 'Ducks Unlimited'

SPRINGFIELD, -- An agreement has been signed with officers of Ducks Unlimited by Tony Dean, director of the state Conservation Department, and initial funds from sale of the new Illinois Migratory Waterfowl Stamp were turned over to Ducks Unlimited. Work will now begin on the state's first Canadian waterfowl habitat project.

Dean presented a check for $5,000 to Ducks Unlimited officers.

"Sportsmen will begin reaping the benefits of their contributions almost immediately, due to the nature of the projects we will undertake this year," Dean said. "We anticipate approximately $360,000 revenue from the initial sale of stamps, half of which will go toward our Ducks Unlimited project in Canada.

Democrat Will Seek Auditor Job

Walter C. Griffin of Waukegan announced today that he is a Democratic candidate for auditor of Lake County.

Griffin, 38, is co-owner with his wife Sara of Illinois Distributing Company.

Griffin charged that there has been a lack of public information coming from the auditor's

"The auditor should not only sign the checks" he said, "but should analyze spending and advise the public who is spending what and whether they are getting their money's worth."

Last Week Antioch's mayor, Robert C. Wilton, announced that he will be a Republican candidate for the county auditor post. The primary election is Mar. 16. The incumbent, Republican John Darrow, is not seeking re-election.

Bicentennial Project Challenges Students

The Sophia & William Casey Foundation of New York has announced a "Students Self-Starter Challenge" program to encourage students in the 12 to 21 age bracket to do research on the origins of the American independence. Eligible projects will qualify for grants up to $250.

The Foundation says there are no set rules on what constitutes an eligible project but emphasizes it is particularly interested in projects wherein the applicant undertakes to investigate, research and write on some phase of the American Revolution.

The Foundation adds, however, that any project which a student is prepared to carry out on his own and which is sensibly related to the Bicentennial celebration will be considered.

Applicants should write to the Sophia & Williams Casey Foundation, Box 73, Glen Head, NY 11545.

Safe Driving Tip

Although safety-minded motorists check their brakes and tires, many simply forget their windshield wipers.

Check the rubber refill element on the wiper to see if it is split, warped or hardened. Extreme temperatures, exhaust fumes, road film, grit and washer chemicals and wax from automatic car washes will damage it.

Transactional Analysis Workshop Set

The College of Lake County women's program is offering a workshop on transactional analysis, Tuesday, Nov., 18 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Quiet Lounge.

Participants should wear comfortable clothes and bring a sack lunch. The fee for the workshop is $6.

Coach Roger Andrews had a turnout of 26 on Nov. 1. After putting the candidates through tryout sessions, the varsity was trimmed to a roster that includes 12 seniors and six juniors.

An intrasquad game will be played at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 19. The public is invited to attend and get a preview of the 1975-76 Sequoits in action.

The Sequoits won their second straight conference championship last season and, for the second year in a row, finished with a 22-6 record. Along the record of 27 straight victories, dating back to 1973.

Frosh Finish With 8-1 Record

Antioch High's freshman football players lost only one of their nine games this season, indicating that future prospects for the varsity might be pretty good.

"Our only loss," said Coach Gerry Sandberg, "was to a fine Warren freshman team which was outstanding."

"Success for our freshmen was not the result of speed nor size, because we had neither," Sandberg said. "It was the result of fine team play and intelligent ball players who were unselfish and listened and learned well."

Sandberg said that to list outstanding players would be to slight someone "because too many of them will be late bloomers and starters for Antioch in the years ahead."

"Instead," the coach said, "let me thank the 49 sets of parents or guardians who allowed their sons to play the game this year. They have rewarded you with a fine competitive year, full of desire and sportsmanship. They conducted themselves as gentlemen and are a credit to you. So, thank you, parents, for a fine

Business Crime More Lucrative

Than Business?

This year, crime against business may reap $23.6 billion, according to Norris A. Lynch, director of the consumer goods and services division, U.S. Department of Commerce.

In a recent speech, he put this figure in perspective by pointing out that sales for the three largest department store retailers were $22 billion in 1974. "Crime," he said, "makes more money than Sears, Montgomery Ward and Penney's combined."

Mr. Lynch added that the $23.6 billion cost of business crime, calculated on a per capita basis, spread across the U.S. adult population, would come to $165 per person.
